

Housing is Health:

Integrating Land Use, Public Health and Housing Policy

Join housing partners, planners, elected officials, developers, health providers, and community leaders for the 8th Annual Regional Housing Summit as we explore strategies that connect housing and health. Housing shapes well-being, family stability, community resilience, and our regional economy. When it's overlooked as a foundation of health, every sector feels the strain, from service demands to workforce challenges. We will hear from speakers and researchers with expertise related to the impacts of housing and health.
